GLOBAL SHEA ALLIANCE

THE SHEA INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

Nearly 2 billion shea trees grow naturally on parklands in 21 African countries stretching from Senegal to South Sudan. 16 million women living in rural communities individually collect the fresh fruits and the kernel is processed to extract a healthy vegetable oil known as 'shea butter'. Shea offers technical and health benefits as a cooking oil and food/cosmetic ingredient and is widely available in Africa. With approximately 800,000 tons collected each year, the industry provides a critical source of jobs and income to often poor and underserved communities.

ABOUT THE GSA

The Global Shea Alliance (GSA) was established in 2011 to help build a more competitive, sustainable, and profitable shea industry.

It is a non-profit industry association with 919 members from 39 countries including women's groups, brands and retailers, suppliers, NGOs, producer national associations, and affiliates. Through public-private partnership, the GSA promotes industry sustainability, quality practices and standards, and demand for shea in food and personal care.

Sustainability Program

- Implementation of multi-stakeholder guidelines and work streams
- Community development projects including warehouse construction, business development trainings, health and safety initiatives, parkland management, improved planting materials, and conservation pilot projects

Industry Promotion

- Annual conferences and exhibitions in Africa, EU, the U.S. and Asia
- Technical assistance and market linkages
- Consumer and industry marketing
- Research on shea benefits in food and cosmetics
- International policy analysis and advocacy
- National association support

Quality Standards

- Development and implementation of quality standards and best practices
- Quality trainings for shea products

GSA MEMBERSHIP PRINCIPLES

As a GSA member, you commit to supporting this mission and you also agree to follow these Membership Principles in all your dealings as an organization. You agree that breaches of these Membership Principles may lead to a termination of membership.

1 Promote growth of the industry

We commit to work together with all shea value chain stakeholders to promote the growth of the industry in Africa and around the world. We support governments with information and technical support in designing strategies to maximize the value added and jobs created by the shea industry. We commit to continuous improvement in our activities and impacts.

2 Dispute and complaint resolution

Members agree to investigate any complaints fairly and openly and to follow the GSA Dispute Resolution Process.

3 Best international business practices

GSA members commit to building trust and respect throughout the supply chain. Members will practice fair business trade as it is generally understood today (here we refer to a general principle of trading fairly, i.e. not below a sustainable cost of production). Members will avoid any price collusion or appearance thereof and encourage free and fair competition across the industry (see annex below). We commit to respect all international anti-cartel and competition laws. Members commit to honoring contracts and agreements and to timely delivery and payment.

4 Pay fair prices

We commit to ensuring that firms pay pickers the best commercially viable price for their products and reward better quality products.

5 Improve Quality

We commit to improving the quality of shea nuts produced by the pickers across the shea zone and will share best practices and new technologies to improve the quality of shea products in an effort to provide excellent value to customers and consumers.

6 Good corporate governance

Members commit to complying with the laws of countries and relevant international standards. We aim to facilitate the growth of our members' businesses by encouraging them to apply the principles of integrity and good corporate governance. We commit to good practice in financial management and to business integrity.

7 Communication

We commit to communicating this Code of Practice throughout our organisations and to external partners. Members agree not to make any misleading or unsubstantiated claims about their activities or their involvement with GSA. External communications are evidence based and consistent.

8 Transparency

Members act responsibly and are transparent in their engagement with GSA. Members report annually to the GSA Secretariat in a manner agreed by the GSA including on their activities pursuant to GSA membership.

9 Confidentiality

All individual business information of members and stakeholders remains confidential. Aggregated statistics will be compiled, however to monitor and track industry growth and value addition.

10 Collaboration and Participation

We commit to improving the quality shea nuts produced by the pickers across the shea zone, and will share best practices and new technologies to improve the quality of shea products in an effort to provide excellent value to customers and consumers.

11 Payment of fees

Members agree to pay membership fees in a timely manner.
